> Working at Cloudbridge
>
> Cloudbridge is a small software company in Manchester with forty employees. It provides cloud computing services to schools and colleges. Its main product is an online learning platform that teachers and students can use anywhere and at any time. All of the company's products are software, but it works closely with several laptop suppliers so that its platform runs well on their machines.
>
> Daniel Okafor is one of the company's six developers. He normally starts work at nine o'clock and always reads his messages from the support team first. These messages tell him about problems that users have reported. After that, he spends most of the day writing and testing code for new features. He usually works at the office, but he can work from home on Wednesdays.
>
> Twice a week, Daniel tests the platform on different tablets and phones, because many students use mobile devices in class. He hardly ever visits schools himself; the support technicians talk to users and pass on their comments. Once a month, on a Wednesday afternoon, all the developers attend a meeting with the project manager to plan the next version.
>
> Daniel says the best part of his job is seeing students use his work. He also enjoys working in a small team, where everyone knows each other well. The busiest time of the year is September, when thousands of new students start using the platform. During that month, he occasionally works at weekends to fix urgent problems.

R21. What does Cloudbridge provide?

- A. Laptops for students
- B. Cloud services for schools
- C. Repairs for computers
- D. Training for teachers

R22. What does Daniel always do first at work?

- A. Read messages from the support team
- B. Test the platform on tablets
- C. Visit schools to talk to users
- D. Write code for new features

R23. Why does Daniel test the platform on tablets and phones?

- A. He hardly ever uses a computer.
- B. The project manager asks him to every day.
- C. Many students use mobile devices in class.
- D. Schools do not have any laptops.

R24. How often do the developers have a meeting with the project manager?

- A. Once a month
- B. Twice a week
- C. Every day
- D. Once a year

R25. When does Daniel sometimes work at weekends?

- A. In January
- B. After every meeting
- C. When he visits schools
- D. In September

Part 2B: True / False (R26–R30)

Read the passage and write T (True) or F (False) (Questions 26–30).

> IT Rules for New Staff at Harbour Bank
>
> Welcome to Harbour Bank. Security is very important in a bank, so please read these IT rules carefully and follow them every day. Your manager will ask you to sign a copy of the rules at the end of your first week.
>
> Your password must be at least ten characters long, and you have to change it every two months. Never write your password on paper, and don't share it with anyone, including your manager.
>
> You mustn't install any software on your computer yourself. If you need a new program, ask the helpdesk, and a technician will install it for you. You can use the internet for work, but you can't use social networking sites during working hours.
>
> You can bring your own smartphone to work, but you mustn't connect it to a company computer. You should lock your screen every time you leave your desk, even for a few minutes. If you have any questions about these rules, please call the helpdesk on extension 300.

R26. Staff have to change their passwords every two months.

☐ True ☐ False

R27. Staff can tell their manager their password.

☐ True ☐ False

R28. A technician installs new programs for staff.

Part A: Translation (W31–W35)

Translate these sentences into Vietnamese (Questions 31–35).

W31. Our support technicians usually install new software in the evening so that staff are not disturbed during the day.

W32. Does your company provide cloud computing services to small businesses?

W33. Staff have to wear their ID cards at all times, and they mustn't take company laptops home without permission.

W34. A project manager is responsible for planning projects and making sure that they finish on time.

W35. How about holding a videoconference instead of flying to the meeting in Singapore?

Part B: Instruction email

You are the IT support manager. Tom is a new support technician in your team. Write an email to Tom explaining how to set up a computer for a new member of staff, using the notes below. In your email you must use:
- at least two adverbs of frequency or time expressions (always, usually, every Friday);
- at least two rule structures (must, mustn't, have to, should) or imperatives.
Follow the standard layout for an email giving instructions: From / To / Date / Subject, a greeting, It should be quite easy to …, the steps with First / Then / Next / After that / Finally, a reminder (Don't forget to … when you've finished.), then Best wishes and your name, position and department.
Write 80–100 words (do not count the From, To, Date and Subject lines).

- unpack the computer / connect it to the network
- switch it on / install the company software (usually takes twenty minutes)
- create a user account / always set a temporary password
- never give the password over the phone
- test the printer
- write the details in the helpdesk log (checked every Friday)
- reminder: lock the store room when you've finished

Required language: Adverbs of frequency and time expressions (at least two): always, usually, never, every Friday; Rules (at least two): must, mustn't, have to, should; imperatives (Unpack…, Never give…); Present simple for regular duties.

Write 80–100 words in the body: count from the greeting through the signature; exclude From / To / Date / Subject.

From: _____

To: Tom

Speaking

2.5 points

Part 1 (S1)

Answer the three questions. Speak for 30–45 seconds for each question.

Suggested time: 45 seconds per question.

1. How often do you use a computer or phone for your studies, and what do you usually do on it? Use adverbs of frequency and time expressions (usually, sometimes, hardly ever, twice a week).

2. Imagine you are interviewing someone who works for an IT company. Ask three questions about what the company does. Use present simple questions (Does your company…? What do you…? Who are your…?).

3. What are the rules in your university's computer room? Use must, mustn't, have to, can't or should.

Part 2 (S2)

Describe an IT job. Speak for 1–1.5 minutes.

Suggested time: 90 seconds.

A first-year student wants to know about jobs in IT. Choose ONE job from the cues and explain what the person does, what they are responsible for and how often they do each task. Use the present simple, be responsible for, and adverbs of frequency or time expressions (usually, sometimes, once a week).

- Choose one job: database administrator / project manager / helpdesk supervisor
- main duties
- what the person is responsible for
- how often they do each task
- would you like to do this job? Why or why not?

Required language: Present simple for duties: He/She plans…, She checks…; be responsible for + noun / -ing; Adverbs of frequency and time expressions: usually, always, sometimes, once a week, from time to time.

Part 3 (S3)

Deal with the situation. Speak for 1–1.5 minutes.

Suggested time: 90 seconds.

You and your manager are planning a training day for new staff in your company. Respond to your manager's ideas in the cues, then make at least two suggestions of your own. Use shall or could, how about / what about + -ing, maybe or perhaps, and I'm afraid… to disagree politely.

- Manager's idea 1: hold the training day on Saturday → disagree politely and give a reason
- Manager's idea 2: give each new employee a printed copy of the IT rules → agree
- Your suggestions: start with a tour of the office / record short videos about the IT rules / invite the helpdesk supervisor to speak

Required language: Suggestions: Shall we…?, We could…, How about / What about + -ing?; Softening: Maybe / Perhaps we could…; Disagreeing politely: I'm afraid… + reason.
